

The Cityline.tv internship is a dynamic and multi-faceted role focused on the digital presence of Cityline, North America's longest-running lifestyle show. We are located at the City building at 33 Dundas Street East (tucked behind Yonge-Dundas Square). The Cityline.tv intern is involved in the daily upkeep of all things digital, including website updates from in-show photography, clipping segments from the full episode, scheduling the clips to go live on the site, and the opportunity to create original Cityline.tv content. It is a blend of developing those technical storytelling skills, and being given the editorial control to create your own lifestyle-focused articles and galleries for the site.

Our ideal intern is an independent worker, as we are a small (but mighty) team, and is someone who possesses excellent collaborative skills. A passion for the lifestyle genre is needed, and attention to detail is crucial as we are operating in a fast-paced and lively environment. You will be set up for success with two other members of the digital team of whom you may ask questions, and who will provide you with any guidance you might need.

This is an unpaid placement with no remuneration or stipend. We require you for the full 6 weeks from 9:30 to 5pm daily. Twelve-week half-day placements may be an option if previously cleared. Please send resume/cover letters to Cassandra Juradinho at Cassandra.juradinho@rci.rogers.com
